Dismiss Charge Against Kouhout

Nobody Was Near When Motorcycle Accident Occurred in Which Mrs. Minnie Brockley, Who Was Riding With Him, Was Fatally Injured

County court held a short session Friday afternoon without a jury at which time two sentences were imposed and one indictment was dismissed. The session was held in the supervisors' rooms as Judge McNamie was holding a special proceeding in the court room.

District Attorney Traver moved for the dismissal of the indictment against Fred Kouhout who was charged with manslaughter in the killing of Mrs. Minnie Brockley of this city. In asking for the dismissal of the charge Mr. Traver stated that the only evidence of reckless driving on the part of Kouhout was that which could be given by motorists who saw Kouhout driving a considerable distance from the scene where his motorcycle met with an accident and resulted in the death of Mrs. Brockley who was riding in the sidecar at the time.

The charge grew out of the death of Mrs. Brockley who died before reaching the hospital following a motorcycle accident on the Kingston-New Paltz highway some time ago. According to the facts as presented at that time Kouhout was driving his cycle with Mrs. Brockley in the sidecar. On the way out he passed several automobiles who alleged that he was then driving in a reckless manner. After passing these cars Kouhout passed from their view. Later when they overtook the cycle it was in the ditch headed back toward Kingston and Mrs. Brockley was seriously injured and died before reaching Kingston.

Conviction Would Be Impossible.
Mr. Traver said that since no one saw the accident or saw Kouhout immediately before the accident it could be impossible to convict him of

It is almost impossible to convict him of a charge even though the accident was his fault. In view of the fact that Kouhout said the accident was not due to his driving but to the driving of some car which forced him off the road the jury would have to take a statement as there would be no contradiction to that fact.

not believe Kouhout was responsible for the death and asked that prosecution be dropped. Walter Miller, who appeared for the defendant, stated that the facts were as stated, and the indictment was dismissed.

Youths Sent to Reformatory.

ne were given a postponement of imposition of sentence last June in county court, were again in court. Mr. Traver stated that he was moving action by the court. At the time the youths were in court a year ago Judge Fowler gave them a chance to make good. At that time imposition of sentence was postponed during good behavior. Their conduct since, however, has warranted further action.

...said, had not warranted further consideration and he sentenced them to the Elmira State Reformatory undischarged by law.

Court then adjourned until 10 o'clock May 3.

Dedication of St. James Organ

Over 2,000 Persons Attend Musical at St. James M. E. Church and Musical Union. Fine Program by Mrs. White and Miss Adelaide DeLoce.

An audience of over 2,000 people listened intently to a wonderful program of organ and vocal music, splendidly performed at the dedication of the new Hall organ at St. James M. E. Church on Friday evening, the artists being Mrs. White, celebrated American organist, and Miss Adelaide DeLoce, contralto.

Before the beginning of the program, the new pastor, the Rev. Frank M. Neale, offered a prayer of dedication, and then called attention to special notices at the bottom of the printed programs which read as follows:

Acknowledgment is due the Ladies Guild by whose efforts the first funds amounting to about $2,000 were raised for a new organ.

The chimes which are a part of the organ were bequeathed in loving memory of Reverend Annular Ackerly and Martha Livingston Ackerly by Jennie Ackerly Connelly, their daughter.

The echo organ was given in loving memory of Faith Safford by her father, Charles H. Safford.

While waiting for the concert to begin those having programs were privileged to look over the specifications of the new organ, and the congregation of St. James M. E. Church and their organist, Harry P. Dodge, are to be most heartily congratulated upon having an organ of rarely beautiful tone in all of its choirs and from all pipes; an organ with a rarely smooth quality of reeds of liquid clear flutes, and perhaps most valuable of all, a magnificent pedal organ with power enough to balance, entirely and satisfactorily, the rest of the instrument, yet every bit of that pedal organ shows a velvety tone that is unusually beautiful.

Of course the new organ has the echo and chimes, etc., but the three choirs and the pedals make the soul and character of the instrument. When one thinks of the organs of say, 25 years ago, the pipe organ of today with its electrical devices, operating with only the lightest touch and in the most convenient manner, seems quite miraculous. It may be interesting to note that the very delicacy of the present-day mechanism calls, however, for rare and delicate skill from the performer, where in days past "main strength" was a real necessity.

White a Master of Organ.

The new organ is, of course, an almost permanent source of joy, but for the special occasion of its dedication, to have been able to secure such a master of the instrument as Mrs. White was a piece of rare good fortune for all those who were privileged to listen to the concert.

To watch Mr. White play as well as to listen to his playing, one might easily make the mistake of thinking that his task was an easy one, but to those who know the demands of such an instrument, his performance was most musicianly. Among other features of his playing, his complete mastery of the pedals was a joy.

In order that there might be due variety to the program, there were two groups of songs by Miss Adelaide DeLoce, contralto, whom it was a great pleasure to hear in an auditorium large enough to allow of the full volume of her rich voice, for when she sang at the W. G. A. some time ago one felt the hammering of the four walls and comparatively low ceiling. Miss DeLoce has a vibrant, rounded voice of wide range, and sings remarkably well, with a clear enunciation that leaves her hearers in happy possession of the text of her songs, just from listening to her singing. And she sings with feeling.

Outstanding Program Features.

So generous had the artists been in the arranging of the program that since the concert did not begin until 8:30 it was found that the program would be too long, and Mr. Dodge announced the elimination of three organ numbers. As it was Mrs. White had chosen a program so varied as to show to best possible advantage every point of the new organ, and every number that he played was enthusiastically applauded. Perhaps the outstanding numbers, however, were the Overture to "Tanhauser," the delirious Scherzo from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," and deeply appealing Largo from Dvorak's New World Symphony, the intensely dramatic March, Slav of Tchaikovsky's, the exquisitely orchestrated "Unfinished Symphony" of Schubert's, and Mr. White's own descriptive composition composed and dedicated to his many radio fans, "The Storm."

While all of Miss DeLoce's songs were very pleasing, her first group held the really finest numbers: "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah," "Still Wie Die Nacht" (Calm as the Night) by Bohm and "Smilin' Thru" by Penn.

JEWS USHER IN PASSOVER WEEK WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The celebration of the Passover or Feast of the Emancipation, the most important festival in Jewish life, will commence next Wednesday evening, April 24, in the synagogues and continue for seven days. Seder services, at which the history of the exodus from Egypt is recounted, through ritual and music, will be held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Orthodox Jews eat unleavened bread, or Matzo, during the festival, which is symbolical of the ancient vision of a world free from physical and spiritual slavery.

Habeas Corpus for Possession of Son

she had never become so involved that her speech was incoherent, as one of the previous witnesses had testified. She said there had been times when she did not get the meals because her husband would not provide any food to prepare. One time she went to his store to get a ham and he took away the ham she started to get, and scratched her on the hand severely. She denied that her husband had been compelled to wash and dress the boy while she remained in bed. She had taken the boy to school until Mr. Mauer locked up the automobiles so she could not drive them, then he took the boy. She denied a charge made by her husband that she was a reckless driver. That was only his excuse for locking up the cars, and she said she never stayed out late except on a few nights when she went to Moscone and Liberty to visit his folks.

Tells About Her Baths. Charges that she left him to bathe the boy while she took two baths a day herself she denied. She had not done that because there was seldom hot water. She had frequently gone to her room for a hot sponge bath and it was on one of those times that her husband came to the room while she was bathing preparatory to being initiated into the Eastern Star and had grabbed her arm in which she held a kettle of hot water. There was a battle and he grasped her arm so tightly that she dropped the kettle and some of the water might have spilled over him, but she denied having thrown water at him. She claimed that she had been scalded on the arm on that date.

Another time she charged he had used a ten-pin from a bowling alley to administer punishment and he had also struck her over the head one time with a chair. She frequently called for help and her son had come on some of these occasions and had pleaded with his father to stop such actions. Mr. Mauer, she said, promised the boy but failed to keep his promise.

Says He Pointed Gun. One morning she had risen early to go to a beauty parlor at Liberty. As she was seated looking over a train schedule she heard a noise and saw a shotgun pointed at her head. She said she was frightened and that day went to see Attorney Lyons. After pointing the gun at her, her husband locked all of the doors and she had to leave the house through the cellar. Later he told her the gun was not loaded. She had one day asked him during one of the clashes why he did not point a gun at her again and he said the gun had not been loaded. She said there was a witness to his statement about the gun.

In the arguments which took place she said it was Mr. Mauer who lost his temper and swore and became excited. She never lost her head except to say "damn" on an occasion or two. That was not swearing.

Answered Argument With Song. One witness said when Mr. Mauer became violent and excited Mrs. Mauer never argued but would begin to sing. Sometimes she would sit at the piano and play and sing. This same witness also said the father was always good to the boy and they apparently loved each other much. The witness said one of the apparent big differences was the fact that Mrs. Mauer had the dress store in the house. There were quarrels over Mrs. Mauer going places and they also quarrelled about about the women employed in the Mauer house eating there. Mrs. Mauer wanted the women to eat there and Mr. Mauer objected.

The episode in which Mr. Mauer is alleged to have changed the sign on the store to make it ridiculous and the time he turned the hose on the front walks to prevent customers setting in or out of the store were only a few of the things he did, Mrs. Mauer said her husband before Christmas and Easter, when she might have done a good business, took a great part of her stock and hid it so that she could not sell it during the busy season. Once she ordered a special sweater for a lady customer and he took it and wore it. Once he had taken the stock from the store and hid it and told her he had "cleaned house." Troopers were notified and he returned the stock.

One witness said the boy had taken a ten pin from behind the piano once and told her that Mr. Mauer had struck Mrs. Mauer with it. It was a regular size pin such as used in a bowling alley.

Brother-in-Law's Position. Mr. Smith, with whom the boy and his mother are now living at Far Rockaway, was called and said he had never seen any particularly cruel treatment. He said that he was willing to make a home for the boy and his mother until the matter was settled by the courts and he would spend some money to see that Mr. Mauer supported his wife and boy.

Asked by Mr. Baker if the boy would not be just as well off with the father at Livingston Manor, Mr. Smith said he thought not.

Inquiring as to why he would be better off at Far Rockaway Mr. Smith replied that the boy needed "polishing." Mr. Baker asked him if he thought Far Rockaway was a better place to "polish" young boys and the witness said he thought so. He, however, would not commit himself as to whether the people of Far Rockaway were more "polished" than the residents of Livingston Manor. He said Livingston Manor was not so good a place to bring up the boy as Far Rockaway.

Borrowed Money to Start Store. Mr. and Mrs. Mauer were married October 6, 1912, and lived at Liberty before coming to Livingston Manor. Mrs. Mauer said she and Mr. Mauer had been residing together under the same roof but not as man and wife for some time. She borrowed money to start her store to get money to support herself.

Five years ago he stopped her credit at the village stores and also stopped her from signing checks. He gave her money last August for a trip to Far Rockaway but when she asked him for money to get shoes for herself and the boy he said "try and get it" and it was in August that he applied his knee to her and "booted" her out of the door injuring her so that she had to have medical treatment.

Several witnesses from the village were called by both sides and gave testimony to substantiate both sides of the case as testified to by the parties. Each side contends the other side is not the proper party to place the custody of the son in.

An adjournment was taken to Wednesday when the case will be continued at Hudson and in view of the unusual testimony on the part of both sides there is apparently a big job ahead of the court before arriving at any decision.

Great Diplomat Well Paid, Document Shows
A valuable document, believed to have been stolen from archives of the French government in the revolution of 1789, is included in a special one-copy edition of the life of Talleyrand, which is being bound for a member of the Talleyrand family. The paper orders the payment of 200,000 francs to Charles Maurice de Talleyrand-Perigord, France's most famous statesman, for his services as ambassador to the court of St. James in the reign of Louis Philippe, a post given him for promoting that monarch's accession to the throne.

The paper is interesting and curious, in that it reveals the astonishing sum paid Talleyrand at this period, 200,000 francs being almost a princely fortune, far above the average reward of ambassadors.

A woman, who gathered the material for the special edition, found the document in the hands of an autograph collector. It is considered the gem of the entire collection, which includes many personal letters and valuable records of intrigue and romance in French life under five Bourbon kings.—Kansas City Star.

Javanese Delicacy
"Rystaffel" is a dish peculiar to Java, writes Nellie M. Scanlan, in John O'London's Weekly. In a Java hotel you order Rystaffel. The waiter brings in a large bowl of rice. You take a generous portion on to the soup plate provided. Behind him in a row are from 10 to 15 other waiters, each with a dish or two, from which you take a sample. There are curried chicken, fried bananas, dried fish, meat balls, hard-boiled duck eggs, preserved ginger, chopped onions, chunks of pineapple, raw herring, sliced cucumber, peppers, chilies—sometimes up to 30 varieties. The diner helps himself to all his capacity will allow.

Differences in Rainfall
There is uncertainty about what constitutes a day's rainfall. At London, for example, popularly regarded as a wet place, it seems that the best the clouds ever have done was 3.12 inches of rain in 24 hours. In France, however, there was a shower at Joppe which checked out at 31.17 inches in the same time. At Genoa, the best rain was 30 inches for a day's job. Gibraltar has a record of 33 inches, but it took 26 hours to get down. In the Khaz hills, India, the record drizzle is 30 inches a day for five consecutive days. This adds up at 15,000 tons on every acre.

Legends of "True Cross"
There is no authentic information as to the composition of the cross on which Jesus was crucified. Legends on the subject are legion. The alleged fragments of the cross preserved as sacred relics are composed of pine, according to one legend, the true cross was made of four kinds of wood—palm, olive, cedar and cypress—representing the four quarters of the globe. A more poetic legend says the cross was made of seven, supposed to account for the almost constant quivering of the leaves of that species.—Fairbairn Magazine.

Church And School Notes

(By The Associated Press)

Albany, N. Y., April 20 (A. P.).—Too much time has been spent in keeping the institution of the church alive rather than in spreading the Christian religion, according to Dean William Leonard Sperry of the Harvard Theological School.

Opening a series of lectures on "Signs of These Times" recently at the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Dr. Sperry declared that churches in this country suffer from a lack of aloofness and sometimes take their color too much from their own memberships. He pointed out many excellent advantages which have been derived from the American system of self-supporting churches, but deplored the economic dependence of the church on the bounty of its membership which he declared has made it necessary for the church to identify itself too closely with its membership.

The Genesee Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church has gone on record as favoring a form of church union for Protestant churches.

Joseph A. Nasca, Jr., 21, is Rochester's youngest Sunday school superintendent. He was unanimously elected at a recent meeting of teachers of the Presbyterian Church of the Evangel. Mr. Nasca also is vice president of the Monroe County Union of Christian Endeavor Societies.

Members of Protestant churches in Mount Morris have watched closely the development of the merger of Protestant churches in Perry. Their final decision to abandon a similar plan was influenced by the results in Perry, where union services have been discontinued and the union idea abandoned.

BIG FROG IN A PUDDLE.

Some interesting facts and some questionable opinions about Thomas Jefferson have been brought out by the placing of a tablet on the building at 57 Maiden Lane, New York City, where the future President resided for a time while serving as his country's first Secretary of State. In March, 1790, Jefferson rented the house on that site for 100 pounds a year, but lived there only a few months—until the government under President Washington was removed to Philadelphia. One of the interesting facts is that at the time New York City had a population of only 33,131, including 2,368 negro slaves. One of the questionable opinions is taken from "Sketches of Debate of the First Senate," by Senator Macloy of Pennsylvania, who also wrote critically of Washington. In part the excerpt reads:

Jefferson is a slender man. Has rather an air of stiffness in his manner. His clothes are too small for him. He sits in a lounging manner. His face has a sunny aspect. His whole figure has a loose, shuffling look. He has a rambling, vacillating air. A laxity of manner seemed about him. Even his discourse partook of his personal demeanor. It was loose and rambling, and yet he scattered information wherever he went and some even brilliant sentiments sparkled from him. He gave us a sentiment which savored of quaintness: "It is better to take the highest of the lowest than the lowest of the highest"—to appoint a charge d'affaires with a handsome salary than a minister plenipotentiary with a small one.

This "sentiment" attributed to Jefferson has often been expressed in the vernacular as follows: "It is better to be a big frog in a little puddle than a little frog in a big puddle." Such preference is characteristically American. Only the exceptional man who is less interested in putting himself forward personally than in learning and in broad observation of the human comedy prefers to be a little frog in a big puddle.

THE PLAGUE OF NOISE.

One would naturally expect European cities to become as noisy as American cities as soon as they acquire as many motor-cars and other "modern improvements" in proportion to population. However that may be, they must be much less noisy at present. For visiting foreigners frequently remark upon the harsh din of our cities. Toscanini, the Italian musical conductor, is quoted as saying that when he first came American city noise seemed almost unbearable but that after repeated comparisons particular noises seemed "less important, the ear in time being able to make a measure of adjustment." But it is complained that this involves deafness to the finer distinctions in sound as well as a dulling of the appreciation of all that is more pleasing. There is also the loss in health, sleep and efficiency, which experiments have shown to be real and measurable.

What can be done about it? Suppress unnecessary noises, answers the New York Times and points to experiments being made with a view to getting the help of acoustical science in protecting sensitive ears, but in regard to the suggested suppression pessimistically adds: "This seems as hopeless in practice as holding back the tides or sweeping back the waves of the ocean. For every truck that goes tearing through the street during sleeping hours, hundreds suffer and there is no recourse.... God has been frequently asked to bless the man who first invented sleep. But there are millions in every city who would be thankful to the scientist who will invent a sleeping chamber in which one can have an adequate supply of fresh air and yet sleep without disturbances, no matter what the machine-made noises of the night may be in the surrounding streets below."

COURAGEOUS BUT RISKY.

Even his critics must admit that Mr. Hoover has courage. Who but a courageous President would flout the shaking of the hand of the deaf people and then announce, in effect, that he can not trifle away his time addressing every convention that assembles in Washington? Mr. Coolidge talked on all subjects for all comers and seemed to like it, but Mr. Hoover appears to be under the impression that he can find a better use for his time. Especially courageous is his decision not to address the D. A. R. convention. For the Daughters have a blacklist of suspects and are in the habit of putting people of the highest position on it with a "bitter" that is quite astonishing.

Mr. Hoover "should be solemnly warned of the risk he is taking", according to the Baltimore Sun, which pointedly adds: "The ladies of the D. A. R. are quick to detect the faintest trace of pacifism and radicalism, and relentless in the pursuit of such traces as they find. Few instances of 'disloyalty' escape them. Mr. Hoover may escape, but he should not deceive himself into underestimating Mrs. Broseau. In comparison with that lady's success in hounding the enemies of America to their lairs, Mrs. Gann's attainment to the seats of the mighty ranks with the intrigues of the Bridge and Salad Club of Erid, Ohio. Mr. Hoover has been warned, but, if worse comes to worse, the Blacklist Club of America will greet him with open arms, hoping that he will break his rule and prepare a stirring address of acceptance."

According to C. Leonard Wooley, who has been digging in ancient Ur of the Chaldees, beauty was a cult 6,000 years ago the same as it is now. The flappers and vamps of Sumeria had their compacts, very much like those in the corner drug store today, except that they varied the colors, often using green and black. Mr. Wooley also found queer panels of baked clay decorated with drawings of mules standing on their hind legs and drinking from goblets, while monkeys, standing behind flowing bowls, evidently served as waiters or bartenders. These were the comic strips of antiquity. Beauty and humor are eternal.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.) DRY CATARRH.

Catarrh is a miserable ailment, and it seems to be very difficult to effect a cure. There are different types or rather degrees of catarrh, with just the ordinary every-day irritation of nose and throat, with a little thickened "spit" or sputum, then the further advanced case where there is considerable discharge of a thick mucous from nose and throat, some of which drains from the sinuses, the little "sounding" chambers which adjoin the nose.

Then there is the third or last type where there is considerable discharge at times but this dries up to a considerable extent and dry "crusts" are formed.

The removal of these crusts, which become quite offensive, is often a matter of prolonged treatment by the doctor and by the patient also.

A few years ago the remedies suggested were boracic acid or baking soda, and later various oils, but for the past five years the specialists have been recommending a solution of ordinary table salt, used hot.

Prof. J. Kollaris, Budapest, suggests the use of a solution of about a half teaspoonful of salt to a cup of water, as hot as possible. This not only cleans the mucous membrane, but removes the odor also. The solution is repeatedly sniffed into the nose three times a day; then the back part of the nose, and the throat, is also cleaned by bending the head backward and pronouncing a prolonged "a" sound which prevents the fluid from getting into the lungs.

To remove the crusts, one nostril and then the other is filled for ten minutes three times a day with an absorbent cotton plug, soaked in the above solution, and pushed as far into the nostril as possible.

When these plugs are "gently" removed, the crusts go with them. Now this seems like a lot of time to give to the treatment, but surely when a patient remembers the distress and embarrassment that accompany this ailment, it is not too much to pay for the relief obtained.

Sometimes it may be necessary to make a few visits to the specialist's office and thus learn the proper method of handling the condition.

Although a complete permanent cure may not be effected, the relief obtained is as before mentioned worth the effort.

WHY

Music Is Pleading to the Human Ear

An explanation why music is pleading to the ear has been found, as far as possibly it can be discovered, by Dr. Harvey Fletcher, member of the technical staff of Bell Telephone Laboratories.

This is in the manner that the ear sorts out vibrations after they pass into its interior for delivery to the auditory nerves. The ear does not translate the sound vibrations exactly as received, but registers them in accordance with a system of its own. Most music, transmitted as received, probably would not be as pleasing as it is under this arrangement.

Tracing these sounds into the ear, Dr. Fletcher found that there is a modulating effect in the middle ear, which transmits to the inner ear vibrations quite different from those impressed upon the outer ear.

The inner ear, receiving part of the vibrations that are harmonics of a given pitch, vibrates at all or at most of the points which vibrate if it received the full tone.

These inner ear vibrations pass to the auditory nerves as sound. So the sound heard is determined by the manner of vibration of this inner ear, and a sound which acts harmonic points in the inner ear vibrating is heard as the sound of that pitch, even when some of the essential vibrations belonging to the pitch are missing at the sound's point of origin.

Why Time on Shipboard

Is Denoted by Bells

The custom of striking bells to denote time on board ship is very ancient, according to Egyptian scribes. The first bells were struck on the river Nile. It seems that the barges which plied the Nile were eight-oared affairs, with four rowers on each side. To the rowers were assigned numbers, one to eight. As there were usually only two or three supererogatory oarsmen, only one relief was provided at a time. When it came time to relieve No. 1 oar, one bell was sounded, and a super took No. 1 oar. A few hundred strokes later, two bells were struck and No. 2 oarsman was relieved. So on, until all eight had taken a rest, then the cycle began over. These island sailors gauged the passing of time by the number of bells struck. Modern times prescribe the striking of the bell on board United States men-of-war every half hour, beginning with one bell at 12:30 and increasing to eight, beginning the cycle anew every four hours.

Why Geysers "Spout"

A true geyser has an underground passage communicating with a source of water supply. By seepage from the surface, the geyser tube is filled with a column of water, which at a considerable depth receives heat from buried lava flows or other volcanic sources. When the temperature in the lower part of the tube is raised to such a point that the water boils in spite of the superincumbent column, a portion of the water is changed into steam and by expansion causes an overflow at the surface. Thus relieved of pressure, a large quantity of water flashes into steam and ejects the whole column violently into the air. If the circulation of the waters be impeded by throwing stones into the geyser tube, the eruption can often be hastened. Geysers in many cases were originally hot springs, from which they have gradually developed by building and extending their tubes.

Why Formal Salutation

Since knighthood was in flower, fighting men have saluted one another. In the old days when knights met, each would raise his visor to show the other who he was. This is the origin of our modern salute, which is therefore much older than most of our present-day customs. Just as fraternities have the handclasp and lodges have a secret greeting, just so do fighting men have their salute, which is their byword. An American man-of-warman saluting a French officer is giving him an international greeting as a brother-in-arms. Although the junior saluted first, the senior always answers and therefore recognizes the junior as a comrade in his profession.

Why Water Colors Vary

Pure ocean water has a clear blue color because salt water does not absorb the blue rays of sunlight as it does the red rays. The blueness of the water depends largely upon its saltness. The Arctic and Antarctic, which are cold and not very salt, are vivid green.

Why Rumania Honors Wilson

At Alba Julia, in Transylvania, a memorial is to be erected to Woodrow Wilson. This is in gratitude for his assistance in uniting Transylvanians and other Rumanians to the fatherland. The cornerstone will probably be laid in May.

Why It's "Shot" Still

"Shot" still is so called because of one color in the web is shot, or shot, through warp of another color. This gives the effect of different colors being visible from different angles.

Why Trees Change to Size

Trees are larger in diameter in summer than in winter. They also vary in this respect from day to day, being larger from noon to twilight than from twilight to noon.

Working and Living

Working for a living is a poor way of getting along. We become slaves of our job, and there is no joy in accomplishment. Instead of working for a living, try living for a work, and see if you are not better satisfied.—Gris.

NEW PALM

New Palm, April 20.—The April meeting of the Dutch Arms was a splendid success. Major Ashton, Mart of the New York National Guard, who for several years past has taken an active part in the annual Citizens' Military Training Camps, gave an inspiring talk on preparedness. His straight-forward account of the existing facts and conditions appealed to all patriotic citizens interested in preserving and perpetuating the government. President Vander Berg then requested Bryan Hasbrouck to tell those present the history of the trials, tribulations, and obstacles encountered and overcome in passing the bill through the legislature authorizing the expenditure of $85,000 for the plans and foundation of the new addition to the State Normal School at New Palm. A message from the executive's office at Albany on Tuesday afternoon stated that Governor Roosevelt had signed the bill. Without question the feat of enacting into the law this bill, is one of the greatest events in New Palm. Mr. Hasbrouck explained many more interesting things in connection with this. Mr. Rivers of Kingston, supplied the humor of the evening with clever card and magic tricks. He was introduced as an amateur, but his feats surpassed those of many professionals. He invited Henry Unland to the mysteries and influence of the spirits. The Rev. J. R. Halmshaw announced that as chairman of the entertainment for next October he was considering the innovation of presenting a unique program. The menu consisted of clam chowder, apple pie a la mode and cigars.

The management of the New Palm Opera House wish to announce that the date for "Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been postponed. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Curtis and family called on Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Williams Sunday at High Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ten Hagen of Wurts avenue spent Sunday with relatives in Rosendale.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion, Sullivan-Shafter Post, No. 176, of New Palm, has the distinction of being the only auxiliary in the Third District to receive a national citation. Much credit belongs to Mrs. Edna L. O'Brien, who was chairman of the membership committee. New Palm had its 1928 quota paid up for 1929 by December 31, 1928, making a membership of 44 members to date.

Mrs. William Minter and her son from Greenwich Village, New York, are now staying at the Maple Farm and making arrangements to stay for the coming season.

FRENCH SOLONS BALK AT VOTES FOR WOMEN.

Paris, April 20 (AP).—Woman suffrage, on which parliament is divided, received another setback in the Senate.

Year after year the Chamber has indicated its approval of giving the ballot to women but the Senate never could bring itself to that modern view.

A seven to five ratio vote defeated the last attempt to bring the matter to an issue, opponents of women taking refuge in the contention that there is no time to raise such a problem as there are other more pressing issues awaiting solution.

Premier Poincare long has been friendly to some form of woman suffrage but he never felt impelled to make it a primary matter on which the government would stake its power or prestige.

Horse Cabs Block Traffic.

GERMANY'S PRIVATE CAPITAL SHOWS POST-WAR SHRINKAGE.

Berlin, April 19 (AP).—None of the larger European countries, with the possible exception of Russia, suffered in the World War such a loss of private capital as Germany, says a report of the government's statistical bureau.

In a compilation of the country's tax assessments for the last three years a comparison is drawn between the private capital of the present and that of pre-war days. It shows decimation of the roster of Germany's millionaires.

In place of 157,000,000,000 marks in private capital taxed in 1913 for keeping the army and navy up to the required standard, present statistics show a total of private capital of only 57,500,000,000 marks. Compared to 229 Germans before the war who were worth more than 10,000,000 marks (roughly $2,500,000), only 23 such fortunes are now recorded.

Some families, like the Goldschmidt-Rothschilds of Frankfurt-am-Main, the steel trust Thyssens on the Ruhr, the Von Haniel of Muench, large landowners like Prince zu Stolberg-Wernigerode, the ex-King Friedrich August of Saxony, the former Grand Duke of Sachsen-Weimar, and some others, succeeded in rescuing the greater part of their possessions during the inflation catastrophe. But the largest landowners, including Prince Fless, Count Henkel von Donnersmarck and Prince Radziwill, became Polish subjects when, by the Treaty of Versailles, large tracts of Silesia were ceded to Poland.

In 1913 there were 2,791 persons in Germany with a capital of more than 2,000,000 marks each. This category of mark millionaires has dwindled to 465.

Heading the list of provinces with landowners worth 5,000,000 marks or more is Lower Silesia with 17. Bavaria follows with eight, the province of Saxony and Schleswig-Holstein have six each. Upper Silesia has five; Westphalia and Rhineland four each, the Mark Brandenburg, Pomerania and Mecklenburg-H-Schwerin three each and East Prussia only two.

Among the cities of Germany harboring millionaires Berlin is first with 290. Next is Hamburg with 112; Leipzig, 55; Frankfurt-am-Main and Cologne, 48 each; Munich, 42; Dresden, 39; Dusseldorf, 35; Stuttgart, 26; Bremen, 21—compared to 177 before the war—Chemnitz, 21, and Hanover, 19. In Berlin the largest fortunes of more than 5,000,000 marks are owned by 18 individuals—compared to 46 valued at more than 10,000,000 marks before the war.

The average business turnover of individuals throughout the Reich is $3,577.50—or less than half of what it was in 1914. The best off are tailors with an average turnover of $3,448, followed by publicans with $2,995, tobaccoists with $2,595, butchers with $2,348, bakers with $2,192, and shoemakers with $1,682. The average capital of German physicians and dentists is $1,584.25.

VATICAN PREPARES TO GREET AMERICAN MOST.

Rome, April 19 (AP).—With the accord between the Holy See and the Italian State on the way to be ratified by the Italian parliament, with the forthcoming "ad limina" visits of the American Cardinals and Bishops to Rome, most of them bringing pilgrims, and with the festivities attendant on Pius XI's "jubilee year," more Americans than ever before are expected to apply for audiences with the Pope this summer.

As heretofore, most of these requests have been handled through the North American College, that higher seminary to which the best students of Roman theology in the United States are sent. In the past, even in the dull seasons of the year, the college authorities estimate that they pass on about 60 applications daily; and in the summertime, when the tourist rush is on, the number runs well into the hundreds.

A conservative estimate would indicate that about 20,000 Americans, including many non-catholics, are ushered into the Pope's presence in the course of a year. But in 1929 the forecast is that a good 30,000 Americans will seek the pasteboards giving access to the Vatican.

The college keeps no statistics of the number of visitors who receive invitations for audiences through its intervention. Some come to Rome with personal letters from their bishops or pastors to Italian ecclesiastics attached to the Vatican offices, and so do not have to rely on the college. These, it is surmised, constitute only five per cent of the total; all others present their credentials to Monsignors Burke, Breslin or Kiley, rector, vice-rector and spiritual director respectively of the institution.

Americans who contemplate seeing the Pope should bring with them a letter of recommendation from their parish priest, at least; or, if non-catholics, from some priest or higher prelate who knows them personally or through one of his parishioners. If they have friends in Rome who are known to the college authorities, their "say-so" will in most cases suffice, but it is better to be provided with the letter.

Ladies should provide themselves with long-sleeved and high-necked black dresses, black hosiery and shoes, before coming over, because that is the regulation wear. Black veils or "mantillas" may be purchased or rented in Rome, but it is a safe precaution to bring them along. For men the officially required dress is formal evening clothes, with black waistcoat. However, in practice, any dark suit, blue or black, with sombre tie, will be acceptable, as Pope Pius does not wish pilgrims to go to unnecessary expense.

Letters of recommendation should be presented at the American College from 9:30 a. m. until 11:30 a. m., except on Sundays, or else by special appointment. Once the engraved card asking an audience is issued by one of the three college authorities, the aspirant must present it in person at the Vatican, going in the "bronze door" under a colonnade to the right of St. Peter. There an English speaking secretary is always on duty, and the arrangements for the reception are quickly concluded.

News from the World on Wheels

More Packard cars were delivered to purchasers during March of this year than in March of any other year during the thirty years history of the Packard Motor Car Company. Deliveries totaled 5946 new cars, exceeding March of last year, the company's record year, by 924 cars. In the New York territory, this record business was reflected in the delivery by the Packard Motor Car Company of New York of 1295 new Packards for a new banner month. This figure surpasses by 24 per cent the deliveries of the best previous year, the New York Company has ever enjoyed, and was 37 per cent in advance of any other March total. Thousands upon thousands of motorists thronged into the showrooms of Oldsmobile-Viking dealers in the larger cities during the past week to view the new Viking, companion car to the Oldsmobile Six and the first 54-degree, V-type cylinder car to be offered in the medium price field. The presentation was one of the most successful ever made by a new automobile. The showing of Viking last week was confined to about 200 of the larger cities in the country. The initial introduction of the Viking is being made this week in other centers and this will be continued through the week until every district has had an opportunity to view, inspect, ride and drive this latest product of Oldsmobile and the General Motors Corporation. The Oldsmobile-Viking factories in Lansing, Michigan, report that 125 Vikings are now being produced daily. This number is being increased gradually and the scheduled production for May calls for 5,009 of the new automobiles. Among improvements announced on the new 1929 Stewart Trucks is the multiple speed auxiliary transmission on the Model 22X—a cylinder—4 ton truck. A range of 12 speeds forward and 3 reverse in the transmission is accomplished by the use of an auxiliary 3 speed transmission mounted amidship, having a step-up and step-down gear which when used in connection with the 4 speed regular transmission produces a wide range of speeds. With such a flexible range of gear ratios this 4 ton Stewart is ideal for dump work, sand and gravel pit work as well as being ideally suited for long distance hauling, where high speed is desirable. Stewart trucks are sold locally by Southard-Beichert, Inc., 573 Broadway. Graham-Paige Motors Corporation reports earnings for the first quarter of 1929 totaling $523,641.42, more than double the earnings for the same period of last year, which amounted to $237,783.50.

CHINESE ASSASSINATE JAPANESE OFFICER

Tientsin, China, April 19 (AP)—Japanese Army Headquarters at Tientsin, Shantung, adopted extreme precautionary measures there today after Lieutenant Itoh of their army had been assassinated by two Chinese in civilian clothes last night.

The Japanese officer was proceeding through the foreign commercial district to the Japanese military headquarters on a military mission when he was approached by two men. They drew revolvers and shot him. They escaped in the subsequent confusion. Reports to the Japanese military headquarters said that since the Chinese forces soon to occupy the city had not yet entered it immediate precautionary measures were taken. The measures included search of pedestrians.

An hour before this incident seventeen Chinese who had been imprisoned in the Shao jail seized arms from their guards and, killing one of them, escaped. Only one was recaptured.

Usually this brilliancy is the result of daring color combinations, but in some isolated, but charming instances, the pajama is in one color, and a very bright one.

It seems natural that the Persian influence would be felt in lounging pajamas, and it is exemplified in long, flowing coats, and in Oriental shawl used for the coat, the trousers being a plain contrasting material.

While pajamas are the approved for negligee purposes it must not be supposed that negligees of other types are ignored. These, like dresses, have long or sweeping lines, circular skirted negligees being offered as a natural companion for the circular skirted night dress, the latest recruit a lacy circle. Circular chemise, slips and petticoats are now wanted because of the trend in wide skirted dresses.

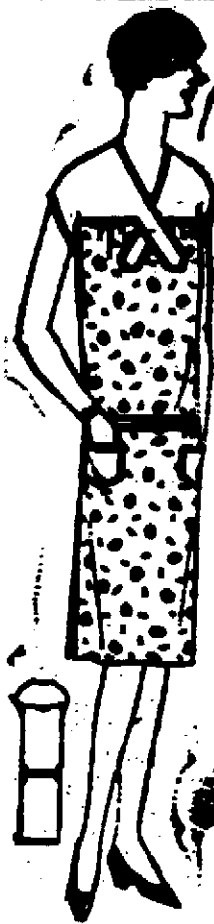

The widely heralded craze for sun in effect has affected lingerie preferences. Egg-shell, vanilla and shades simulated to intensify the brown of the skin are being asked for by today's fashionable sun worshippers. Less remain ecru or deeper, no matter what color they trim, and this of course is in line with the urge for eye coloring.

Geese Put Forward as

Canada's National Bird

Canadian naturalists have been concentrating on the choosing of a national bird for Canada to commemorate the diamond jubilee of confederation. Mr. J. Miner, an authority on bird life, gives his vote to the Canadian goose, which he describes as "the noblest creature that ever lived on land, in air, or in the water."

Wild geese, he says, pair off for life. The male guards his mate on the nest. As soon as the young hatch he protects them from the opposite side of the mother, keeping the babies between the parents. He will leave his family for his mate, and for her only, but he will die for any of them. When traveling in the air the male Canada goose leads the way, breaking the air for his mate, who is quivering behind him, and his family travel next to her.

"In brief," says Mr. Miner, "he is one of the most self-sacrificing, godly-principled leaders the human eye ever beheld, and to know him is to love and admire him."

Hinds Flew With Lindbergh

Former Manager of Eagle Hotel Accepted Invitation From Lindbergh Thursday Night to Take Flight Over New Brunswick, N. J.

New Brunswick, N. J., April 20.—(Special)—George B. Hinds, who was formerly manager of the Eagle Hotel at Kingston and is now connected with the Development Service Corporation of New York city with temporary headquarters here, had the honor Thursday evening of being taken up in the air for a flight over New Brunswick with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Mr. Hinds' work in New Brunswick is in connection with the construction and financing of the Woodrow Wilson Hotel, and Thursday evening he made a trip over to the Hadley Field airport where he met one of the pilots with whom he became acquainted during his air service in the World War. The pilot informed Mr. Hinds that Col. Lindbergh was expected shortly at the field, having left Cincinnati at 5:15 o'clock that evening, and would reach the field about 11:15 o'clock, three hours later.

Colonel Lindbergh arrived on schedule time in a borrowed airplane as his own plane is now under construction, and Mr. Hinds was introduced to the colonel by his friend, the air pilot. The colonel asked Hinds if he would like to take a spin in the air over the city and the invitation was promptly accepted by Hinds, and for nearly half an hour he enjoyed a flight in the air with the famous air pilot. As they alighted at Hadley Field, Mr. Hinds invited the colonel to be his guest at the hotel for the night, but Lindbergh was forced to refuse as he was in a hurry to get to New York city and left New Brunswick in a taxi.

Mystery Plane Excites Britain

London, April 20 (AP).—A British trawler fishing about 250 miles west of the outer Hebrides, or 300 miles west of the western Scotch coast, reported an airplane passed over it early today, flying eastward. The identity of the plane was a mystery here.

The radio message was received by the Malm Head station in Ireland from the trawler Shackelford at 8:24 a. m. (5:23 E. S. T.). It said, "Airplane bound east passed here this morning at 5 o'clock. Position is 58.10 north and 14.20 west."

There was no knowledge here of any transatlantic flight in progress and the public was left guessing what the plane might be doing so far out in the Atlantic as to be beyond the limit of any ordinary trial flight.

At the air ministry it was stated: "We have no knowledge of any flight over the Atlantic. Neither have we received any news."

Last Call for County Taxes

The various town tax collectors of the twenty different towns of Ulster county have made their final settlement with Herbert E. Thomas, Ulster county treasurer, and the tax rolls of each of the various towns are now on file in the county treasurer's office.

Any taxpayer in Ulster county who failed to pay his taxes to the collector of the town in which his property is located should communicate as soon as possible with the county treasurer and he will be glad to send out bills to anyone who has taxes to pay. The county treasurer's office will proceed at once to make up the lists of unpaid taxes in each town and prepare them for advertising in the local papers, preparatory to the annual tax sale.

Under a new law passed a year ago the county treasurer is authorized to hold a tax sale annually and the first sale held in Ulster county took place on September 24, 1928, when the county treasurer sold over four hundred parcels for unpaid taxes of that year, and of these less than a hundred parcels have since been redeemed from said sale.

As all unpaid taxes draw interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum besides the cost of advertising, all who have not yet paid their county taxes are urged to do so at once and save any further expense.

New York.—Sir Ashley Sparks, resident director of the Cunard Line (British), is wondering why there should be so much ado about liquor on American vessels. ### SCHOOL WOMEN'S CLUB BOLDLY SPRING MEETING

The spring meeting of the School women's Club of the Hudson Valley was held at Cold Spring on Saturday. The sessions were held in the public library building.

At the morning session Mrs. E. S. Simons of the State Department of Education, spoke on "Straws in the Wind," giving many helpful suggestions. The afternoon session was addressed by Canon H. A. Prichard, of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, who spoke on "Some Aspects of Education." His talk was very inspiring.

At noon the club members, seventy in number, were the guests of Mrs. Francis Higginson in her spacious home, where a delicious luncheon was served and a social hour enjoyed.

A business meeting preceded the afternoon session. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Miss Frieda L. Hayes, Kingston; vice president, Miss Bertha Tait, Cold Spring; treasurer, Miss Kathryn Beale, Kingston; corresponding secretary, Miss Ethel Salzman, Kingston; recording secretary, Martha Henderson, Newburgh.

Sybil Thorndyke, England's famous Shakespearean actress, will receive an honorary degree from Edinburgh University.

Obstinate Peon And Crippled Pig Make Woes For Mexican General

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Mexico City, April 20 (AP).—Mexican generals, like the private soldiers, must "live off the country" when campaigning and find food as the fortunes of war may dictate. Hence this tale of the stalled train, the obstinate peon, the crippled pig and the hungry officers.

Beyond Prio, in Durango, stretches a hill, sparsely populated district where miles intervene between the little adobe huts of Indian farmers with their complements of chickens, pigs and dirty children. In the midst of this country five federal troop trains were held up because the detail of killing the water boiler of the first locomotive had been overlooked.

From a rickety coach at the rear descended a stout general and his staff. The commander's jacket fairly dripped against a vacant interior, for he and his officers were hungry. Within their view came a peon driving three thin pigs.

"Wait a minute, hombre," shouted the general. "We'll buy one of those pigs."

"Sorry, my general, but they belong to the rancho over yonder hill," responded the peon.

The general and his escort trailed along and eventually came to a small clearing where there was a mud house with other slim pigs and a dozen or so bony chickens running about.

"We'll buy a pig," said the general to one of the Indian women.

"We can't sell you a pig because their owner isn't here," answered the woman.

"Then we'll buy a chicken," said the general.

"The owner of the place also sold the chickens," responded the woman. One of the empty-armed men picked up a large stone and hurled it at a suckling pig, breaking the animal's leg. Then, in resigned tones, he suggested that the party return to the train.

"What will I do with a crippled pig?" wailed the woman.

In the bartering that followed, the woman received three times the pig's market value and 20 minutes later meat and bones were simmering in a bucket over a bonfire.

The end part of the story is that when the pig was only half cooked the train started and the general and his party scarcely had time to clamber back into their car. The charred bones of a suckling pig, heaped in a tin pail over the cold remains of a bonfire, were mute evidence that war is no picnic, even for generals.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, April 20 (P). (State of Agriculture and Markets.) Southern and western fresh vegetables were in moderate receipt on the wholesale sections this morning.
 Trading was rather light and at a few hour considerable supplies remained unsold. Prices tended upward especially on cabbage, lettuce, radishes and spinach.

Combined car lot forwardings of fruits and vegetables for the entire country last week increased slightly to 16,145 cars and were 300 heavier than during the forepart of April in 1928.

The market on old crop white potatoes was much stronger again today. Supplies were moderate, the market quite active. Maine Green Mountain potatoes in bulk poddied
 at $2.85-$3.25 per 100 pounds.

Receipts of Florida new crop potatoes were limited. The market was about important change and sales of No. 1 Spaulding Rose were considerable at $7.25-$7.50 per barrel.

Receipts of strawberries were more liberal. The market ruled steady with the demand fairly good.
 Specialty on fine quality fruit. North Carolina quart baskets jobbed out at 15c-25c. Some offerings in flor-idation, however, sold lower. Florid shipments wholesaled within the range of 10c-35c. A large volume of sales on Louisiana pist base were made at 15c-20c.

Because of the reduced acreage of watermelons in seven secondarily producing states, the crop there is only 57,000,000 quarts, as against 56,000,000 last year. All leading states except Arkansas are much lighter production.

Kansas expects a heavier yield per acre than in 1928 and a large crop of 25,000,000 quarts. Tennessee expects 21,000,000. Virginia around 14,000,000 and North Carolina 14, 000,000 quarts.

Reports on the condition of crops in ten southern states show that with the exception of portions of Oklahoma and Alabama prospects are still very favorable. The April addition of peaches in the ten states averaged 83 per cent, compared with 64 last year and 56 two years ago.

The condition of the California
 crop has not been estimated.
 At first damage has been severe and reports received since the heavy frosts affecting the interior valleys indicate that a short crop of early-coming California tree fruits is expected.

LAKE KATRINE GRANGE TAKES IN CLASS OF 19.

Lake Katrine, April 20.—There was a record attendance at Grange today evening when 19 candidates were initiated in the first and second degrees. Mrs. Harold Keator was announced to be present. This is the largest class in some years. Members are as follows: Mrs. Calver Tea Brock, H. Keator, Mr. and Mrs.
 Harry Ennist, Alfred Mantavanti,
 Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Davis, Mrs.
 Lawrence DuMont, Jason Boice, Edward Whitaker, Lucas Rosen, Miss Katherine Lickard, Joseph Dornit,
 Walter Riley Miss Louise Clark.

The April committee were quite equal to the demand when it came for refreshments, nearly 80
 making of the good sandwiches,
 coffee and cake provided.

Their dances have been very popular, nearly 100 attending Wednesday night. They will hold another on Wednesday, April 24.

The Home Department held a picnic at the home of Mrs. R.
 Brown, Wednesday. A pot luck luncheon was served and all reported a very pleasant day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Young of Brooklyn motored to Lake Katrine
 Saturday.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 20 (P).—The stock market made the best progress of any Saturday session in weeks today, with profit taking easily absorbed until the last hour, when some irregularity appeared. Trading, however, was still carried on at a moderate pace, with sales for the two-hour session totaling about 1-200,000 shares.

The slight improvement in the credit situation, with 7 1/2 per cent call money rate carrying over the week end, more optimistic reports from abroad over the probable outcome of the reparations conference, and another announcement of highly pleasing earnings reports for the first quarter, promoted bullish activity.

The new record automobile output, as announced by the Department of Commerce, caused some misgivings as to how long this industry can maintain its terrific rate of activity. Hudson, in reporting the best earnings in its history for the first quarter, stated that the number of cars in the hands of distributors and dealers was below normal, and Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors, predicted another record year for his company.

The day's news included favorable first quarter earnings statements from smaller steel companies, Colorado Fuel and Iron, and Acme, which further stimulated hopes of the showings to be announced by United States Steel and Bethlehem
 next week.

Chain Store issues were in demand in expectation of better public purchasing power with the improvement in credit. Woolworth, Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward making good gains.

American Telephone and Bethlehem Steel again were sent up a point or two to new highs. Sparks Withington jumped 1 1/4 points to a record level, and International Telephone, United Aircraft, Columbian Carbon and Warner Brothers mounted 4 to 6 points. Some of the oils were well bought, Texas Co., rising 2 1/2 points to a new high, and Pure Oil, Houston and Phillips selling higher.

The motors were unsettled by the production figures. Graham Paige losing 3 points and Hupp Truck and General Motors sagging. Midland
 Steel Products preferred dropped 17 points. International Harvester, Goodyear, Lambert, and Johns Manville were among shares losing a point or so.

Schacht to Spend Sunday In Berlin

Paris, April 20 (P).—The reparations deadlock between the allied creditor powers and Germany took a quick turn today with the departure of Dr. W. M. Schacht, the German expert, for Berlin.

Dr. Schacht planned to spend Sunday in Berlin and then to return to Paris for Monday's full session of the commission.

Dr. Schacht appeared at the Hotel
 George V at 11 a. m. and shortly afterward went into informal conference with Owen D. Young, Thomas W.
 Lamont, and two other reparations experts. His face did not have its usual smile. He looked very grave and tired.

If Dr. Schacht and the German delegation wish to prevent final collapse of the reparations negotiations, it appeared today they must make the allied delegates a new offer, changed both in tone and character from that which precipitated Thursday's rupture.

Only the Germans seemed today to have the faintest hope that the breakdown, impending yesterday until the death of Lord Reveston permitted
 the conference a week-end recess,
 would not eventuate when the experts
 convened in plenary session Monday morning.

The situation, to the allied delegates, appeared to be that the German spokesman, having fortified his position at home with defiance of the creditor nations Thursday, sought now to prolong the conference only to attempt a shift in blame for its breakdown, and to further strengthen himself and his conferees in Berlin.

Prince Henry Dies,
 Brother of Kaiser

Hennelmark, Germany, April 20
 (P).—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the former Kaiser, died here today of pneumonia.

Prince Henry, who was widely known in the United States for his visit there in 1902 to attend the launching and christening of his brother's yacht "Meteor" at Jersey City, was 66 years old. He had been in poor health for several years.

Prince Henry, who was the former Kaiser's only brother, had been suffering from laryngeal trouble for some months. He developed pneumonia three days ago and died at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

At his bedside were his wife, Princess Irene, and his son, Waldemar, and the latter's wife. His second son,
 Prince Sigismund, is now in Costa Rica.

The Associated Press was informed by a trustworthy source early this year that Prince Henry was afflicted with cancer of the larynx, the same malady with which his father, the late Emperor Frederick III, was stricken.

 19, in her sixty-seventh year.

 Harry Krum of Olive Ridge, Mrs.
 Mary Merrick of Newark, N. J., and Earl Carson of Hobart, N. Y., also eight grandchildren.

The funeral of Emma Bance, widow of David G. Smith, who died suddenly on Friday at her home, 12 Summer street, will be held from her late residence on Monday at 9 a.
 m. and at Holy Cross Church at 9:30. Interment in Montre-pose Cemetery. Survivors are three sons, Alpha and David of this city and John of Newburgh; four daughters, Jennie, wife of Nuncio Soafdi; Emma, wife of Durham; and Katherine, wife of Edward Fischang, all of Kingston; 19 grandchildren and one great-grandchild; two brothers, Goulib and Charles Bance, of Kingston.

Mrs. Mary Jackson, an old resident of Kingston, was buried from St. Mark's Church last Wednesday, and her burial was large attended.
 Since returning to Kingston from Philadelphia she was cured for by Mrs. Minnie Malin, 98 Bruyn avenue. She was a faithful member of St. Mark's, a stewardess, filling her place with exemplary zeal. The sermon was preached by the pastor.
 Remarks, eulogizing her life and character were made by the Rev. E.
 O. Clarke, pastor of the Franklin Street Church, who commended her highly, holding her up as a good example; and the Rev. A. L. Hughes, an ex-pastor who received her into the church. The Rev. Mr. Hughes sang, "It Pays To Serve Jesus Each Day" and eulogized her worth and constant usefulness and fidelity. The services were very edifying.

Mrs. Barbara Munch, widow of the late Michael Munch, died at her home, 4 Hone street, this morning after a lingering illness which she bore with patience to the last. Mrs.
 Munch was born in Bavaria, Germany, and for over 40 years was a

 W., at home, also three grandchildren,
 Natalie and Joel Hayes and Anna Munch. The funeral services which will be conducted by the Rev. W.
 Pretzsch, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, will be held from the late home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the family plot in Montrepose cemetery.

THE JOINERS
 News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

The Pythians of Hope Lodge, No.
 55, and their invited guests representing lodges in the Ulster District will probably witness one of the greatest fraternal celebrations ever had in this vicinity on Tuesday evening, April 23. At that time Hope Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will receive Joseph Bishop, the grand chancellor of the state of New York, and William Lawless, a past supreme chancellor who is now ably acting as grand keeper of records and seal, also other state officials. Invitations have been extended to all of the lodges in the district and it is expected that there will be a large attendance to welcome these distinguished officials. The committee in charge have been assiduous in their efforts to give to the Ulster Pythians
 an evening of enjoyment and the arrangements are now complete. The lodge will hold a short session at its lodge room in Pythian Hall and will then repair to Golden Rule Inn on Mirror Lake for an evening of festivity. Knowing of the ability of Nine Host Louis Kunst, who is the "Oscar" of this vicinity, there can be no doubt as to the hands he will produce. The program will consist of oratory dispensed by local talent reinforced by the grand officers and music. One of the features of this celebration is the presentation of veteran jewels to Robert H. Schryver and George W. Murdoch who have just completed fifty years as members of Hope Lodge. This will be one occasion to be long remembered in Pythian circles.

Monday evening at a special communication Roundout Lodge, No. 333, F. & A. M., will confer the first degree on a class of candidates.

FIGHTING TO PREVENT LEVEE FROM BREAKING

Snowlake, Ark., April 20 (P).—
 One hundred additional laborers, recruiting in Helena, Ark., this morning were on their way to Knowlton's Landing to join a small army of workers fighting to prevent the breaking of the Mississippi river levee.

 break in the crown of the levee and some caving but prompt emergency repairs prevented a major crevasse.
 A complete break would have meant the flooding of portions of four counties and three towns in the richest farming area of the state.

State Bowling Tournament.
 Scheduled, April 20 (P).—Ninteen New York city teams, two from New Rochelle and seven from Syracuse will roll in the 12 hours of bowling on today's program of the state championship tournament. In the afternoon doubles and singles, Syracuse, Buffalo, Ogdensburg, Yonkers, Sherrill and Elmira will be represented.
 The Adam team of Sherrill rolled in to tenth place in the tournament last night with 2,724. Ordinary scores were turned in by seven teams from Sherrill, five from Ogdensburg, one from Buffalo, two from Albany, and one from Yonkers.

It's a good plan to hope for the best, but it's a better plan to work for it.

 Just a tear in vision falling
 And a yearning just for you.

IN MEMORIAM.
 In loving memory of Beatrice J.

 20, 1928:

The angel came in the morning
 When the shadows scarce had fled,
 She carried away our darling
 And left us with our dead.
 But she carried her up to glory
 Where the pearly gates stood wide
 And Heaven seemed drawing nearer
 When Beatrice stepped inside.
 Her chair is empty now,
 Her clothes are all laid by,
 A Mother's hope, a Father's joy
 In death's cold arm doth lie.
 God needed one more

Tagging Major League Bases

By William J. Chipman
Associated Press Sports Writer

Point out the Athletics to the Yankees, and the champions of the world become invincible by one means or another. The Huggins required the services of a bleeding sun playing through the battle at the back of their stadium to prevent old Jack Quinn from pitching a two-out shout-out against them yesterday, but with that aid the Yanks slipped home ahead by 2 to 1 in the first game of the series.

With such a start, the champions may be able to follow up their advantage against Robert Moses Grove, but if they really are starting the season in a batting slump, Connie Mack seems to have his chance at last. Huggins will not get four-hit pitching from Hoyt every afternoon, and Quinn will not lose every time he holds the Yankees or anybody else to one clean blow.

The veteran of twenty-six campaigns had a lead of 1 to 0 in the seventh yesterday when late turned against him. In that round the sun so burned the eyes of Mule Haas that he permitted Lou Gehrig's host to fall at his feet for a double, and Gehrig skipped home on Mule's two-bagger to right. With two gone in the eighth, Earl Combs got another "sun double" to Haas' sector, and scored on Koenig's drive, which Miller might have caught but for the glare.

The Senators broke into the winning column when Fred Marberry turned back the Red Sox at Washington by 3 to 1, and Cleveland made it three out of four from Detroit with a 7 to 4 victory. Home runs by Crouse and Metzler deprived the Browns of a chance to sweep their four games against the White Sox, who rallied late to win by 5 to 4, who rallied late to win by 5 to 4.

The Giants occupied the National League spotlight today as they moved to Boston to exact their spring toll from the Braves, in defeating the Phillies by 14 to 5 at Baker Bowl yesterday to clean up the abbreviated opening series in two straight games, the Giants punched Burt Shotton's young barmen for twenty hits and twenty-six bases, but the significant item in their victory was the pitching of Carl Mays.

Fred Fitzsimmons, who once rocked upon his own fingers while sitting in a low chair reading a book, injured one of them in fielding a grounder in the first inning yesterday, and the second found Mays on the mound. From that point to the finish, the Phils, who still can slug if they can do nothing else, collected just six hits and a pair of runs.

If yesterday's performance by Mays can be repeated at proper intervals through the summer, McGraw's gamble in signing the submarine ball star after his arm seemed to be gone will return handsome dividends. Perhaps Mays will even crowd Genewich for a place among the big four of the Giant staff.

The Giants had the National League stage almost to themselves yesterday, a strain permitted the Pirates to elude the eager Cubs. Dock and Haid outpitched three Red rivals in Cincinnati, enabling the champion Cardinals to win by 9 to 4, their third victory in the opening series of four games. Chick Hafey backed them with two home runs, his second and third of the season, and batted home four markers as he did in the opener.

The Braves nosed out the Robins by 6 to 5 in the morning half of the Patriot's Day double bill at Boston, and then won in the afternoon by 5 to 1. The mound was occupied in the second game by Dazzy Vance, Uncle Robbie's sole hope for avoiding John Heydler's coal cellar, but the Braves overtook him with a three-run rally in the sixth.

Clermonts and Koenigs Ready

The Clermonts and Koenig All-Stars are set to open their seasons Sunday at 3 p. m. on the Hasbrouck Park diamond. Both nines have strong lineups to send to the field in support of bumpy batteries.

Bill Sinsapaga is slated to do the pitching for the Clermonts with Leo Dolchovitch behind the plate. Pete Komasa will start on the mound for the Koenigs and Stan Didzik will receive his slants.

Jimmy Gorman will be the umpire. He plans on starting the game promptly.

BLUE SOX PLAY AT CEMENTON SUNDAY

The Blue Sox are scheduled to play at Cementon Sunday afternoon. A strong lineup of Sox will leave Kingston at 1 p. m. and hope to be able to chalk up a win to start them on a winning campaign for the season.

Anyone wishing to go to Cementon with the team may do so. A bus will leave the Blue Sox club on Ann street at 1 o'clock.

WILLIE GREETS FRIENDS AFTER WHISTLE, KAYOED

Chicago, April 20 (AP).—Henceforth, Willie Pello will greet his friends before and after a fight, but never during. He decided that last night.

The bell rang. Willie, making his debut as a boxer, stepped out.

As he advanced to mid-ring, one of his boy friends in the gallery yelled at him to "tear that guy's head off."

Willie turned. He looked up. He waved his right hand in greeting, as if to say: "O. K."

Right then Willie's foe cut loose with a right smack on the chin. Willie went "boom!"

A knockout. The first wallop. Time five seconds.

Since "Chick" Hafey hit 337 without the aid of spectacles, his public is backing the now bespectacled Cardinal star to stop that figure.

Robins to Start With Pan-Ams

The Pan-Ams and Rondouts will clash Sunday at 3 p. m. on the Saugerties road diamond, where the oilmen will open their season with Jack Robins doing their catching, according to information given out late Friday afternoon.

Robins, former Colonial catcher, who is signed to play with Freddie Dahm's Poughkeepsie outfit this year, was granted special permission to work with the Pan-Ams on Sunday. It is figured the actual workout behind the plate will put him in shape for his regular job.

Jack's support is expected to do much for the Pan-Ams, who figure on scalping the Rondouts in order to start their season right. Johnny Carpenter and Johnny Culch make up the pitching staff that will be ready to toss the horseshide to Robins.

The Rondouts have one win under their belts and figure that they will be able to take the Pan-Ams over for another. Every player on Manager Golnek's combination is working in a style satisfying to his mentor, who is not bashful in stating that his team looks like a "million bucks."

Golnek is especially proud of his pitching staff. He has three hurlers, who, he claims, will be able to stay the strongest attack of the Pan-Ams. Joe Coughlin, "Waco" Phil Peters and Jimmy "Lefty" Doyle are the men who will be ready to toss them over for the Rondouts.

It is expected that a large gathering of fans will be on deck to see the game, which will be called right on time by Umpire Pete Jordan.

Some of the great stone blocks are more than sixty feet long and nearly twenty feet square on the end. The ruins still can be seen a few miles east of the modern city of Beirut.

Eloper Kills Girl, Her Mother, Self

Winnipeg, Man., April 20 (AP).—A mother who attempted to prevent an undesirable suitor from eloping with her 16-year-old daughter was shot and killed by the man who later killed the girl and himself when capture was imminent.

The mother, Mrs. Alfred Richards, was killed when she fought with Jim Desjarlain, 35-year-old trapper, as the latter attempted to take the girl away from her home at St. Laurent, a popular summer resort on Lake Manitoba.

Desjarlain and the girl, Emma Richards, then disappeared into a heavy woods on the outskirts of the village. A posse of residents surrounded the three-square-mile area, while three provincial policemen made for a shack owned by Desjarlain in the heart of the woods. When the police forced open the door of the cabin they found the girl and Desjarlain, both dead of gunshot wounds.

MRS. BROWN RETURNS PENCILS WHICH MR. BROWN POCKETED

The postmaster general is never told anything about it.

Leviathan Has Liquor Aboard

Southampton, England, April 20 (AP).—The liner Leviathan left for New York this morning with a stock of liquor aboard for sale to its passengers.

Ship's officers refused to discuss the quantity of liquor put aboard. The loading was done with the utmost secrecy.

It was learned, however, the supply had been estimated so as to have little left over when the liner reaches the 12-mile limit, where what is left will be thrown overboard.

The Leviathan carried 247 first-class passengers and expected to pick up an equal number at Cherbourg.

Line officials said the booking was normal and about the same as last year, part of a small increase being due to a number of passengers of the Paris being aboard. The Paris grounded Thursday in the English channel and was forced to put back to Havre for drydocking.

It had been intended to load the supply of liquor on the Leviathan yesterday morning but because of the presence of photographers the orders were cancelled. At midnight, when the quay was deserted, four rope slings containing cases of liquor were hoisted into the ship.

Y. M. C. A. Drive Opens

ground of experience necessary to tell of problems dealing with youths and was the unanimous choice of the committee. He paid high tribute to the dean as a religious and civic leader.

Dr. Seeley in a short talk previous to announcing the evening's program also pointed out why the "Y" drive should be supported. His reasons were collected from facts obtained from County Judge Joseph M. Fowler, who told him of the increasing amount of youthful lawbreakers, and actual observation made of the good work which the organization is doing.

George E. Lowe, first man called upon to make a report at the inaugural, said that as chairman of the county division, he saw untold success for the drive. Outlying communities, whose representatives were out strong, are hearty in support of the drive.

Secretary John C. Porter gave a number of reasons for asking for the $25,000, and proved by facts that the money will be used very conservatively and to the greatest advantage. One of the outstanding reasons for campaigning for the sum is that the auditorium of the "Y" now has no tenant and is bringing in no returns.

President Ramsey of the Y. M. C. A. was given a hearty cheer for his untiring efforts in labors concerning the organization.

"Y" Justified in Making Appeal.

Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey endorsed the Y. M. C. A. campaign and said the organization is justified in making the appeal. He, too, told instances where an organization like the "Y" would have benefitted some of the cases that are being brought to his attention through the city court. Get the boys into an organization like the "Y" was his solution of the problem.

Several of the team captains, C. A. Baltz, William O'Reilly, William Niles and vice-chairman of the campaign, Clarence Rowland, gave encouraging talks concerning the drive.

Workers Meet at 6:30 A. M. Daily.

A. J. Estes, general manager of the campaign, after classifying Dean Scully's speech one of the highest tributes he ever heard paid to the Y. M. C. A., outlined the work of the campaigners. The men are to meet at the "Y" every morning at 6:30 o'clock. This will give them a chance to call on prospects every evening and thereby bring in the specified amount within a short time. The campaign headquarters are open every day from the early morning

Cold Weather Holds Up Work

The cold, rainy weather of the past week has greatly delayed the work of repairing the streets, and Superintendent Frank Mills of the board of public works stated today that it was impossible to lay Kyrack and other material used in patching the holes in the pavement owing to the cold weather as the material would not hold. Work on the Broadway hill, where new brick is being laid in the trench excavated by the telephone company, is proceeding as fast as weather conditions will permit.

Carless

In making a plea for the better care and upkeep of cars a mechanic said: "A car will last in proportion to the way it is treated. In this respect it is very human. Anything suffers from neglect. There are some men who take good care of an automobile; others treat it like one of the four's."

Easily Evident

According to the Department of Commerce, the supply of nuts is adequate. Many incidents in the news of the day tend to support the department's finding.—Boston Transcript.
